Lydia, Thanks for your arrangements again for the party. It's a small kid's party, but you are kind enough to give attention to details in various aspects.

Since we have approached the club last year, you have been extremely helpful and made the membership process very smooth. Because of the club's support, you may not believe it, but our transition and settling down into Singapore and this neighbourhood was smoothed as a whole. You have helped beyond just the club's membership.

@ RAFFLES TOWN CLUB

Our Playgroup to Nursery 2 Champs from MindChamps PreSchool @ Raffles Town Club went on a field trip to Little Farm Explorer to learn about Urban Farming. This immersive experience gave our young Champs the opportunity to explore the wonders of Urban Farming in a fun and educational way!

Our Champs had a fantastic time gaining insights into aquaponics, learning about the various edible plants and fruits, and discovering the valuable role of chickens in farming. They even had the chance to interact with the chickens by touching and feeding them!

But the adventure didn't stop there! Our Champs put their newfound knowledge into action by building their very own aquaponics systems and experienced the thrill of catching their own fish and bringing them home.

This extraordinary outdoor experience enriched our Champs' understanding of sustainable farming practices, instilling in them a sense of responsibility for both the environment and the animals they encountered.

They left Little Farm Explorer with not just a fish to take home but also a deeper connection to nature and the world of urban farming!

Book a centre visit and find out how we nurture the love of learning in our little ones.

Singapore's Prosperity Yu Sheng

Lo Hei of Yu Sheng is often a highlight of Chinese New Year celebration meals in Singapore. Lo Hei (捞起) translates to tossing up in Cantonese, while Yu Sheng (鱼生) means raw fish in Mandarin. The action of tossing up the colourful dish of sliced raw fish with shredded vegetables while saying auspicious phrases, symbolises welcoming greater abundance and prosperity in the New Year!

In the olden days, Yu Sheng was eaten on the seventh day of the first lunar month, also known as everyone's birthday (人日). According to Chinese mythology, Goddess Nuwa created human beings on this day, hence, the celebration of everyone's birthday. Nowadays, Yu Sheng is enjoyed throughout the duration of Chinese New Year!

It is said that in 1930's Cantonese forefathers from China had brought the practice of eating raw fish dish (Yu Sheng) to Singapore. The original version of Yu Sheng had much simpler ingredients like ginger slices, lime juice, spring onion and sesame seeds. The modified version of seven-coloured Yu Sheng (七彩鱼生) was introduced by four chefs in 1960's where fish slices was served with a variety of colourful condiments and sauce. And diners will stand around the table to toss the ingredients.

Today, Yu Sheng is usually served on a big plate at the start of a meal as the appetiser. Diners will stand and gather around the table. This symbolises togetherness and unity. As the Yu Sheng is placed on the table, the ritual starts with auspicious greeting of 恭喜发财! 万事如意! (Congratulations to your good wealth! May all your wishes be fulfilled!). The person leading the diners will proceed to add the ingredients while saying the well-wishes each ingredient represents.

After all the ingredients are added to the plate of Yu Sheng, diners will start tossing the Yu Sheng while saying their auspicious wishes for the coming New Year. It is believed that the higher one tosses the shredded ingredients into the air, the better the year will be. It also reflects the magnitude of growth in fortune! These explains the enthusiasm displayed by diners during a Lo Hei.

Yu Sheng continues to evolve with adaptation of ingredients to suit different preferences. For instance, adding abalone, salmon or lobster to Yu Sheng. Vegetarian version of Yu Sheng is available too!

Be it a tradition to Lo Hei and enjoy Yu Sheng with your family for togetherness and abundance of prosperity in the New Year or it is a culinary experience to suit your preference, Yu Sheng is now an essential part of Chinese New Year celebration. Get your long chopsticks ready for the season of Lo Hei!

Reunite with your loved ones and bring prosperity to new heights with luxurious Yu Sheng from The Chinese Restaurant & Miyabi Japanese Restaurant!

5 Fun Facts About Valentine's Day!

Valentine's Day, on 14 February, is the day of love. It is the day that romantic couples shower their significant others with love. In the name of love, chocolate, red roses and romantic dinner have all become staples of the annual tradition. Take a break from your Valentine's Day to do list and find out some of the Valentine's Day fun facts!

Valentine's Day wasn't romantic until the 1300s

At the end of the 5th century, Roman Pope Gelasius officially declared 14 February as "St. Valentine's Day." It wasn't until the 1300's the holiday became associated with love and romance, a tradition that first started from the common belief in France and England that birds started their mating season on 14 February.

Cupid was a Greek God

How did Cupid, the cute little baby with the bow and arrow, become a symbol of Valentine's Day? It can be tracked back to the Greek God of Love named Eros. He is a handsome, immortal man with the intimidating power to make people fall in love. It wasn't until the 4th century that the Romans made Eros into the image of a cute little boy and named him "Cupid." By the 19th century, Cupid had become linked to Valentine's Day due to his love-matching powers.

Red roses symbolise love

A classic Valentine's Day gift that symbolises love and affection, red roses are believed to be romanticised by Greek mythology. Aphrodite, the Goddess of love, was so beautiful that red roses sprang up wherever she walked, representing love and desire. Another version of the story says a red rose grew on the spot where Aphrodite's tears fell when she died and red roses become a symbol of love until death.

Writing letter to Juliet

William Shakespeare inspired a Valentine's Day tradition where thousands of letters are sent to Verona, Italy addressed to Juliet from Romeo and Juliet each year. The letters are filled with personal tales of heartbreak, dilemmas and excitement. The letters are read through by volunteers, called Juliet's Secretaries, and responded with heartfelt encouragement to love-struck people. A winner of the "Dear Juliet" will also be picked. The winner gets to visit Juliet's home in Verona and attend a special ceremony.

XOXO (kisses and hugs)

Have you ever thought of how X's and O's came to mean kisses and hugs informally? It seems that in medieval times, when people were mostly illiterate, they would sign off documents with a simple X, which meant faith and fidelity. To show devotion, people would then kiss the X after sign off. Over the centuries, X evolved into a smooch. It's unclear how O came to signify a hug, but some believe O looks like two pairs of arms connecting for a hug.
